

Dust-Phantom

Manufacturers who choose our band cutting machines don't only demand the highest quality in their machinery, they also have strong demands on high quality in their garments, they know that a good environment affects the quality positively.

Dust from the binding cutting process:

- Irritates the operator of the cutting-machine and the seamstress at the sewing-machine while processing the binding.
- Deteriorates the work environment around the cutting-machine and in the sewing-room.
- Is a problem with change of colours.
- Causes loss of production due to the breaking of needle and thread.

A binding free from dust:

- Gives an improved environment for the employees.
- Raises the quality of the finished garment.
- Increases productivity as interruptions for repairs and cleaning decreases.
